

WHAT IF MY YARD IS SLOPED?

Which method is right for your sloped yard?

STEP CUT VS SLOPE CUT: METAL FENCING

STEPPED

FOLLOWS THE GRADE IN STEPS

SLOPED

FOLLOWS THE SLOPE CLEANLY & SECURELY

! UNEVEN FENCE LINES

Stepped panels create a staircase appearance and may leave uneven spaces along the bottom.

! POTENTIAL PET ESCAPE AREAS

Gaps beneath panels may create spaces where smaller pets can dig or squeeze through.

! MORE ROOM FOR DEBRIS AND WEEDS

Open areas beneath panels can collect leaves, weeds and debris.

! VISIBLE GAPS ALONG THE GROUND

Depending on the grade, stepping can create triangular openings beneath sections of fence.

CREATES A CLEAN, FINISHED APPEARANCE WITH NO GAPS

A smooth, consistent line creates a clean, finished appearance.

INCREASED PET SAFETY

No gaps means pets - and other small wildlife - can't dig under or squeeze through.

BETTER PRIVACY & SECURITY

Safe, secure, and made to look great for years to come.

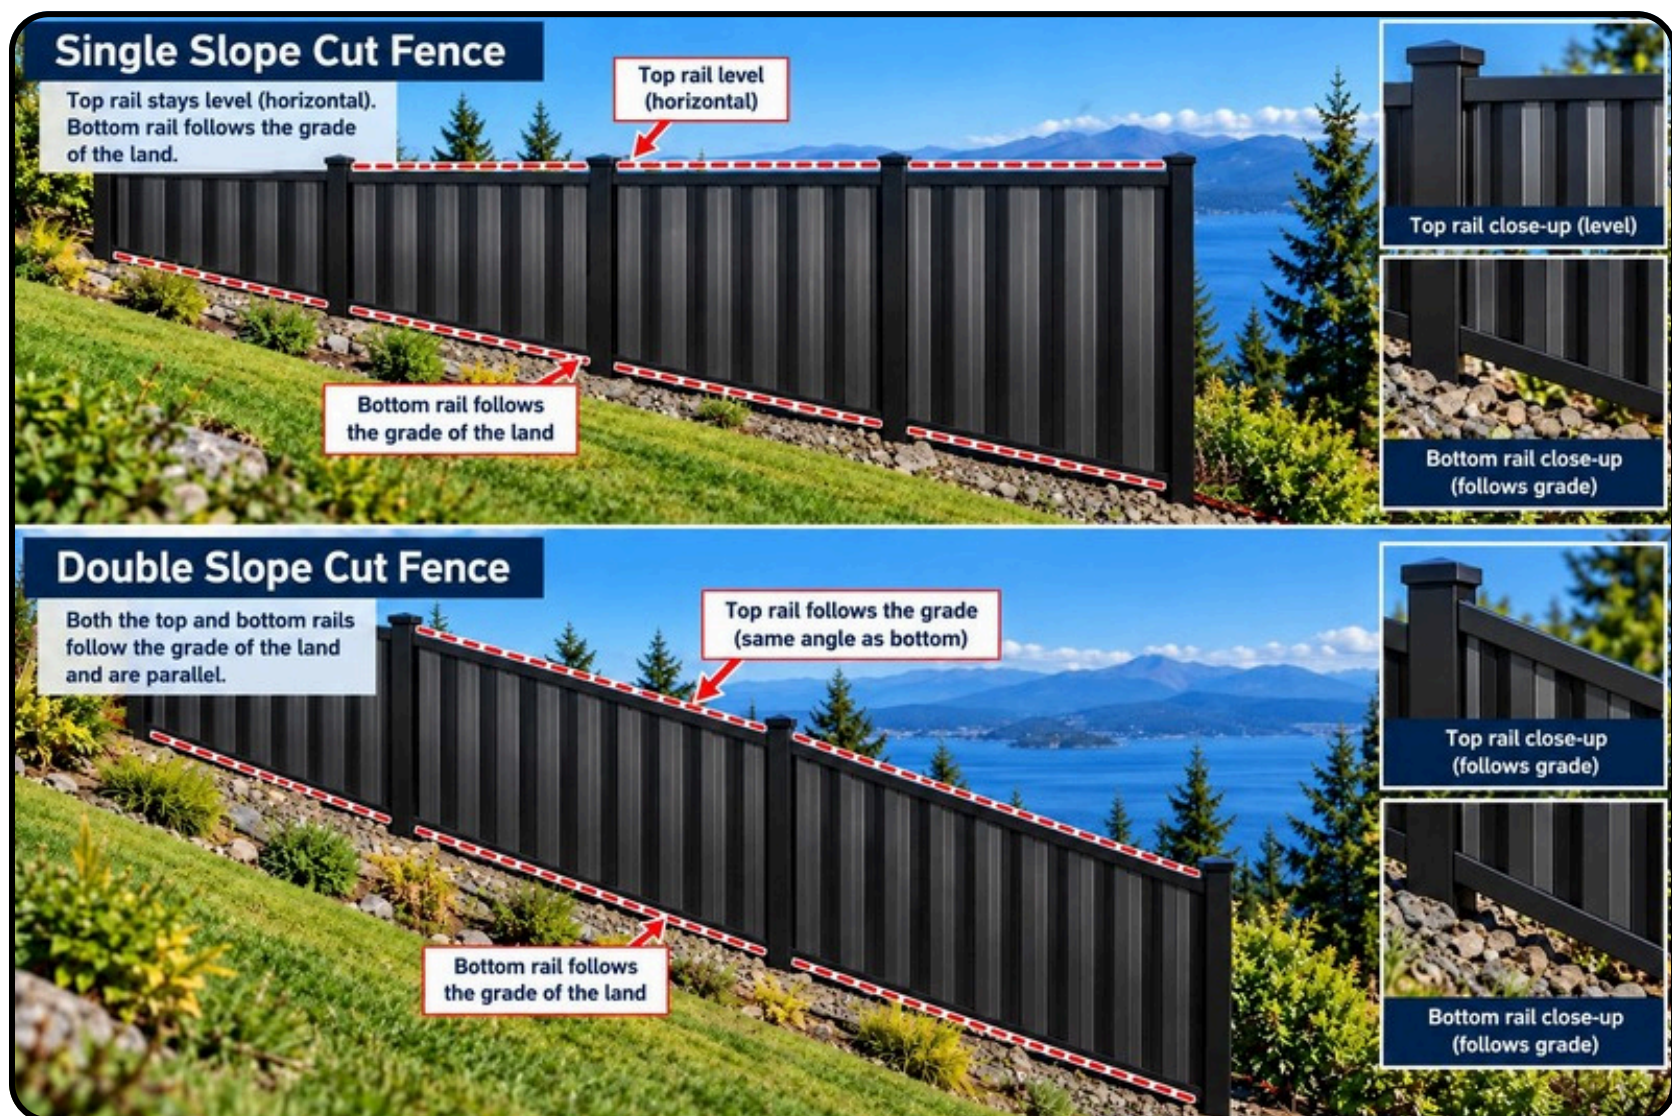

Depending on the slope or grade of your property, a slope cut may be required along the top, bottom, or both edges of a fence panel.

This can affect:

- Finished Fence Height
- Labour & Customization Costs - panels and posts may require additional cutting and fitting during installation. Any questions will be answered, and any additional costs will be explained during your on-site consultation.

Our team takes the time to do it right—so your fence looks great and stands strong for years to come.
